§ 4 Collection and use of contributions

1. Membership fees are charged, invoiced and booked by the CU.
2. The departments of the CU organized as legally independent associations provide their services directly to the members of the CU. The resulting expenses will be compensated by a pro rata transfer of membership fees by the CU to the legally independent associations. It applies that the legally independent associations are allocated 2/3 of the contributions of the member companies from their regional area of responsibility for this. This is shown openly in the membership fee invoice.
This regulation does not apply to partner organizations based outside Switzerland and Austria.
